Section E: Comprehension

Read this passage carefully. Then answer the questions that follow.

One afternoon, a crow felt thirsty and went to the river.

While drinking, it lost its balance and fell into the water.

A dove resting in a tree by the river saw the crow struggling. It swiftly took a branch and dropped it near the crow. The crow held onto the branch and made its way back onto the side of the river.

A week later, the dove wanted to build a home. As it was building its nest, a mischievous boy spotted it. He thought, "If I throw a stone at that dove, I can make it fall." He picked up a stone from the ground and aimed at it.

The crow was nearby. Just as the boy was about to throw the stone, the crow charged forward and pecked his hand. The boy cried, "Ouch!" He dropped the stone and fled.

The dove said to its little friend, "Thank you so much. I am very grateful to you."

Read this passage carefully. Then answer the questions that follow.

A colony of frogs was hopping through the woods. Two of them, Bouncy and Bumpy, fell into a deep pit. When the other frogs saw how deep the pit was, they frowned. They told Bouncy and Bumpy they would never get out.

The two frogs refused to believe them. They tried very hard to jump out of it. The other frogs kept telling them to stop jumping. Soon, Bumpy was tired and gave up.

Bouncy continued to jump as hard as he could. Once again, the other frogs yelled at him to stop jumping. However, he jumped even harder and finally made it out of the pit!

Bouncy's friends were amazed that he got out and wanted to know how he did it. He told his friends that he was deaf and could not hear all that they were trying to tell him. All this while, he had thought that they were cheering him!

Read the passage and complete the questions.

Gill the giraffe sat sobbing sadly alone under a tree. Her giraffe friends had laughed at her because she had a much shorter neck than them. Their nasty words kept ringing in her ears. They had also refused to play with her. Poor Gill!

Suddenly, Gill heard a loud crash nearby. Turning around, she saw a small black bird lying on the ground. Bobbi the bird could not fly well. He had hit the ground loudly when he fell down. Gill went to help him up. She found out that Bobbi had no friends and was feeling lonely too. Gill and Bobbi became friends and started playing hide-and-seek together.

Soon, it was Bobbi's turn to hide. He was very excited. Gill stuck her head into a hole to look for Bobbi. After a while, she could not put her head out. Gill screamed in fear. Bobbi was horrified. Feeling worried, he rushed to get help. In his hurry, he started to flap his wings fast and flew far away.

Help finally arrived. Bobbi returned with some animals. Bobbi stood there watching while the other animals pulled Gill hard to get her head out of the hole. To everyone's surprise, Gill's neck became longer when she was finally freed. Everyone clapped happily. From that day on, Gill and Bobbi were never left out in any games by the other animals again.
