One day, Elephant was very thirsty and looked desperately for water. When he came by a shimmering lake, he charged wildly through the grass field towards the water. He was in such a hurry that he unknowingly trampled on the Rabbit's burrow and crushed the grass that she and her family fed on.

Rabbit was worried. She knew the elephant would return to the lake, and ~~the~~ as a result her home and food would be destroyed completely. She thought very hard and finally had an idea. 5

A full moon was peeking above the trees as Rabbit went in search of Elephant. She hopped in front of him and began shouting loudly. He did not pay any attention to her because of her tiny voice. When Rabbit was almost hoarse from shouting, Elephant looked down and trumpeted at Rabbit, "Who are you?" 10

"I am the messenger of the powerful Moon God and he has a message for you," said Rabbit. "When you went down to the lake today, you trampled the home and food of the Moon God's most loyal messenger. This has angered the Moon God and he commands you never to return." 15

"I don't believe in any Moon God," scoffed Elephant.

"Follow me to the lake and you will see the Moon God for yourself," commanded Rabbit.

"Where are we going?" enquired Elephant, as he ambled behind Rabbit.

At the lake, Rabbit pointed at the reflection of the full moon in the still water. 20

"This is the Moon God," she said. "Pay your respects by dipping your trunk into the lake."

Elephant thought nothing of it and stretched out his trunk. He touched the surface of the lake. Instantly, the water rippled, making the moon's reflection burst into hundreds of shimmering pieces. Elephant pulled back his trunk in fright. 25

At once, Elephant turned around and headed back, careful this time not to step on any grass or burrows along the way.

For each question, four options are given. One of them is the correct answer. Make your choice (1, 2, 3 or 4). Shade the correct oval (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet.

SECTION G: COMPREHENSION OPEN-ENDED(5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. Write your answers in complete sentences.

It was a starry night in August. Nothing stirred on a beach in Costa Rica. The only sounds that could be heard were the crashing waves and the rustling of leaves. Suddenly, a spot in the sand began to shake and sink. A damp, musty smell drifted across the beach.

Deep in the warm sand, about a hundred eggs started to wiggle. A young turtle's journey was about to begin. The temperature of the sand would determine its gender. Most of the hatchlings in the cooler sand would be male while those in the warmer sand would be female. Once the turtles had hatched from their eggs, they flapped their flippers and dug their way out of the sand.

Their journey to the water was a race for survival. The moonlight that reflected off the water helped to guide the hatchlings towards the ocean. Luckily, there were no bright lights shining from a nearby street as such lights could make them go the wrong way. Moreover, Ghost Crabs could grab the hatchlings with their pinching claws. The little survivors swam non-stop under the waves to reach the ocean.

15

As dawn broke, rays of light pierced through the clouds. The only evidence of the night's activity was the crawl tracks left on the sandy beach.
