Section C – Vocabulary Cloze (5 x 1mark)

For each question from 16 to 20, choose the word closest in meaning to the underlined word. Shade the correct oval (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet (OAS).

Edmund added the finishing touches to the painting on the floor and stepped back to examine it. The pair of koi fish looked (16) lifelike; they seemed about to jump out of the swirls of painted water anytime. He had been (17) appointed by the town council to paint a series of murals around the town to enliven it. It was a dream come true for him!

The award-winning artist's talent had not always been (18) recognised though. In fact, there was a time when Edmund's artworks were frowned upon. He was then a teenager itching to practise graffiti art, which he had (19) learnt through online videos. He found an old building that could do with some decorative imagery. He returned that night, armed with cans of spray paint. Unfortunately, when he was close to completing a picture on the wall, two police officers on duty happened to walk by. (20) Consequently, he was charged with vandalism and slapped with a fine.

Well, that was all water under the bridge now; Edmund was expecting a big paycheck for beautifying the old town with his art.

Robotics Enrichment Classes @ Droids4Kids

Spend your time fruitfully this June holidays!
Get a head start in the fundamentals of robotics!
Make new friends while doing hands-on activities!

At Droids4Kids, we train children to be creative thinkers in the 21st century as they learn concepts in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) in a fun and stimulating environment. We have a structured classroom curriculum which is delivered by our friendly, qualified instructors. Join us for an exciting time of learning!

- Do visit our website at www.droids4kids for articles on the learning of STEM, and updates on trends in robotics around the world (child-friendly version).
- You can purchase tickets for The Singapore Robotics Expo 2019 from us. Visit our website (as stated above) for more information.

What our students said about learning at Droids4Kids:

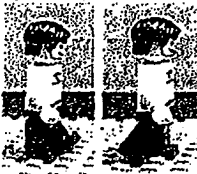

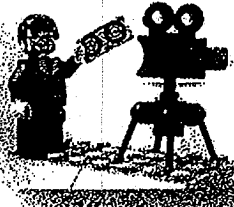

"I used to think that robotics is for smart people only. When my mother signed me up for the course "Coding with Dash and Dot", I was apprehensive. So, you can imagine how excited I was to see Dash complete the tasks according to my code. Since then, I have taken other courses offered at Droids4Kids and my coding skills have grown. One of the instructors, Mr Boo, once said that programming is complex, but one will soon get the hang of it. This is so true. I realised that coding requires focus, imagination and a lot of trial and error too — I enjoy the process nonetheless. I am now studying hard so that I can go to university to study computer science."

12-year-old Jolyn

"I remember feeling annoyed when Dad made me attend the course "Programming with LEEGO" at Droids4Kids. I had wanted to binge on online games for the holidays. Besides, I thought robotics was boring. To my pleasant surprise, the activities were really fun. The instructors gave us step-by-step guidance. All of us felt relaxed yet challenged. I worked with two other boys to build a robot. At the end of the six-day course, we became the best of friends. I discovered robotics and fell in love with it. I was so glad that Dad had 'forced' me to attend the course."

11-year-old Andre

June Holidays Programme

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
				Coding with Dash and Dot Time: 1 p.m. – 4 p.m. Course fee: $90 Learn basic coding and creative problem-solving using Blockly app and robots.
			1	2	3	4
			Stop Motion Animation Time: 1 p.m. – 4 p.m. Course fee: $120 Use LEEGO bricks and figures to tell a story and produce your own mini-movie, complete with music and special effects.
5	6	7	8	9	10	11
			Comics Creation Time: 1 p.m. – 4 p.m. Course fee: $120 Use LEEGO products to create various scenes. Snap and upload the pictures, and use a software to make your own comic book.

For each question from 21 to 28, choose the most appropriate option (1, 2, 3 or 4) and shade the corresponding oval (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet (OAS).

21. Why are exclamation marks used in the sentences under the heading, "Robotics Enrichment Classes @ Droids4Kids"?

- (1) to make the text look more interesting
- (2) to convey excitement about the programme
- (3) to suggest that the programme is compulsory
- (4) to emphasise that the sentences contain instructions to be followed ()

22. What is the main aim of Droids4Kids?

- (1) train adults to teach their curriculum effectively
- (2) develop an innovative mindset in their students
- (3) make the learning of robotics fun for the students
- (4) teach the disciplines of STEM in a structured way ()

23. Which of the following is not likely to be found in the website of Droids4Kids?

- (1) qualifications of the instructors
- (2) ideas on the latest developments in robotics
- (3) description of the course "Stop Motion Animation"
- (4) prices of the tickets to The Singapore Robotics Expo 2019 ()

24. According to the flyer, which of the following is true of Jolyn?

- (1) She was excited to learn coding with Dash from Mr Boo.
- (2) She thinks that programming is complex and does not allow for mistakes.
- (3) She aspires to study computer science after attending courses at Droids4Kids.
- (4) She was interested in robotics and signed up for "Coding with Dash and Dot". ()

25. The flyer quotes Andre as saying he was "glad" to be forced to attend the course. According to the flyer, Andre was glad because he _____.

- (1) preferred robotics to online gaming
- (2) experienced the value of teamwork
- (3) found an area of interest in robotics
- (4) liked the instructors' style of teaching

26. Huiling likes to create stories. She is going overseas for a week from 12 June. Which course would she go for?

- (1) Comics Creation
- (2) Stop Motion Animation
- (3) Coding with Dash and Dot
- (4) Programming with LEEGO

27. Renjun, an existing student of Droids4Kids, wants to watch the 3D movie "The Never-ending Story". What must he do to secure a ticket?

- (1) pay $10 for his ticket
- (2) ask his friend to book a seat for him
- (3) start to queue for his ticket at 3.30 p.m.
- (4) collect his ticket from The Green Room

28. Which of the following information found in the flyer is an opinion?

- (1) The instructors do not conduct lessons on Mondays in June.
- (2) The articles in the website of Droids4Kids are written with children in mind.
- (3) The lessons are mostly designed to include the use of LEEGO products.
- (4) The courses are popular among parents as they are affordable and interesting.

Many volunteers stop giving their time once they join the workforce and start raising their families. To counter _____, Ms Sherry Soon set up Be Kind SG last year, (29) offering micro-volunteering opportunities. She chose _____ name "Be Kind (30) SG" to emphasise the importance of the quality.

"Kindness _____ be shown in different ways," she said, "from the giving (31) of time or money _____ showing tolerance when you see a child throw a (32) tantrum in public."

The group has about 500 volunteers now from _____ walks of life and (33) over half have volunteered more than once. Be Kind SG posts _____ activities (34) on meetup.com for sign-ups and there are activities almost _____ weekend. (35) Some are regular, such as making birthday cards for residents of welfare homes. The group also organises birthday celebrations and activities _____ visits to homes. (36)

There are activities to honour "invisible heroes" such as domestic workers, nurses and transport workers, who are often taken for granted but _____ work is (37) crucial to keep the country going. These could include making flower arrangements and baking cookies for them.

Ms Novita, a volunteer, said, "Volunteering at Be Kind SG _____ been

Last Friday, I was at the airport to pick my cousin up. It be a weekday afternoon, I did not expect to find the arrival hall packed out, or it was. Specifically, there was a thick crowd formed outside Belt 40. Was a celebrity touching down on our shores? A popular actress, perhaps, or a professional atheleet. I stood on a raised platform and observed the goings-on from a distance.

(40)

(41)

(42)

Suddenly, there was the uproar and the crowd turned hysterical. From where I was, I could see the automeyted glass doors part to allow a group of people to (44)

(43)

exit. The group compraized a team of security personnel who were surrounding a particular man in a pink suit like a wall. Immediately, the said celebrity was biseeged by his army of frenzied fans. They just kept pushing towards him, as if they could get any closest, as he tried to wade through. The security personnel tried dasparately to shield him from his screaming fans and the cameras that were rudely shoving in his face. The poor chap looked distressed by the crazed attention he was receiving. I was utterly aporlled by the so-called affections of the fans. They ought to draw the line where it comes to invading the celebrity's personal space.

(45)

(46)

(48)

(50)

Well, I suppose stardom comes with a price.

(55)
Chan tugged harshly at the leash as he attempted to haul his dog away from the screen at the window display of the electrical store. _____, the husky stood its ground, (56) refusing to give up the entertainment provided on the screen. Uncle Chan was _____ persistent, barking out orders while pulling at the leash with both hands.
(57)
They were starting to create a _____ in the busy shopping street. Passers-by (58)
glanced in amusement at the tug of war occurring _____ the man and his dog.
(59)
Then the unexpected happened.

"Aah oooo! Aah aah oooo!" Chopin howled, its nose pointing _____ (60)
thereby lengthening its throat.

"Oh look, Mommy! The doggy is singing!" a little girl exclaimed excitedly.

The howls rose above the cacophony of street sounds. People stopped and stared.
_____ of the attention it was gathering, the dog continued to croon with wild (61)
abandon. Opportunists whipped out their mobile phones, snapping pictures of the singing dog. It was indeed a rare _____ to behold!
(62)

_____ the adoration of the crowd, Uncle Chan decided to let his pet (63) enjoy the moment. Chopin loved to 'sing' — that much he knew. In fact, the husky's _____ spot at home was a cozy armchair placed in front of the television.

(64) Occasionally, it would burst into 'song', howling with gusto snatches of the tunes heard over the google-box.

Uncle Chan rubbed the back of his head in a mixture of embarrassment and pride.

Would Chopin appear on social _____ the next day? It was anyone's guess.

BLANK PAGE

Section I – Comprehension Open-ended (20 marks)
Read this passage and answer questions 71 to 80.

"Sun, sun, sun, here it comes...."

Danny sang while his fingers pressed and plucked skilfully at the guitar strings, delivering a soothing melody. A circle of audience had formed, nodding and swaying to the song. A playful breeze came by and ruffled their hair — not that anyone would mind. It was a welcome change from the warm and stagnant air experienced over the past week. 5

(Lying at the feet of the street performer was his most adoring fan: a white stray cat with patches of brown. As usual, it was purring blissfully as Danny strummed and crooned. People often mistook the pair as owner and pet. However, Danny had rolled his eyes at the idea. "My cat? No thanks!" Danny had replied. Oh, how he wished the cat would leave him alone instead!) 10

Just then, a pigeon swooped into the midst of the crowd. It cooed loudly as if to harmonise with the street performer. Unfortunately, that did not sit well with the cat, which was immediately prepared to fight off the intruder. With a shriek, it pounced at the startled pigeon and caught it with its front paws. The feathered creature flapped its wings desperately, trying to free itself. 15

The crowd, alarmed at the chaos, dispersed immediately. Danny's upturned hat, which could have been filled with notes and coins from his appreciative audience, lay ignored on the ground. Danny was deflated. The cat had done it again. "Argh!" Danny cried in exasperation. "It's either the cat goes or I go!" he muttered. 20

When Danny chanced upon the park, he thought he had found the perfect place for busking. The lush greenery and the water lily pond provided a nice setting. For a while, his earnings were good — unsurprisingly as there was a steady flow of visitors every evening. Then the stray cat came along and appointed itself as the busker's guardian. Any foreigner, be it a squirrel or a bird, perceived to be invading its territory would face a counter-attack. To save his business, Danny made up his mind to get rid of the cat for good. He would call an animal shelter the next day. 25

That night, Danny sat facing the water lily pond, staring mindlessly ahead. He heard quick footsteps coming up behind him. Suddenly, he felt a heavy blow across his back. He fell forward from the impact. Despite the excruciating pain, he turned to face his attacker. The man was tall and well-built. 30

"Give me all your money and I'll let you go!"

It was a robbery. What money? Danny had hardly made any that day, all thanks to the cat. He crept towards his guitar and clutched it protectively over his chest. The robber's eyes followed the movements and came to rest upon the guitar. Then with a knowing smirk, he strode towards Danny. Just then, a faint purring could be heard in the quietness. Instinctively, Danny yelled. There was a pause, followed by rustling of grasses. 35

In a split second, the robber made a lunge at Danny with a balled fist. Danny flinched before glimpsing a splash of white and brown. "Kitty!" he gasped. The cat mewed, its body stiff and ready for combat, as it set on the robber. Danny watched, mouth agape, as the cat clawed viciously at its victim. The robber beat a hasty retreat with red scratches all over his upper body. 40

For the first time, Danny looked at the cat properly as he brushed down its back. "Thank you for saving me, my brave guardian angel. You're quite a skilled fighter, aren't you?" he said tenderly. 45

Since that night, Hero, as the cat was named, became a part of Danny's performance. The busker would include his pet as he engaged the audience. Hero also had its own rug to lie on — its rightful place next to its owner.
