www.sgexam.com

Your Task

Imagine that you are Sue.

Write an email on behalf of your grandmother to Linda's principal, Mr Lim, to praise Linda for her good deed.

You are to refer to the given pictures and information on page 1 for your email.

In your email, include the following information:

- the particulars of the student from the school you want to thank
- what the embarrassing situation was
- when the embarrassing situation took place
- how Linda helped your grandmother
- what inconvenience was caused to Linda
- why you think Linda should be praised

You may re-order the points. Please remember to write in complete sentences.

Part 2: Continuous Writing (40 marks)

Write a composition of at least 150 words about an unexpected outcome.

The pictures are provided to help you think about the topic.

Your composition should be based on one or more of these pictures.

Consider the following points when you plan your composition.

- What was the outcome?
- Why was it an unexpected one?

You may use the points in any order and include other relevant points as well.

In Chinese mythology, the white tiger was appointed the guardian of the west. There was a well-known story from long ago which stated that if a tiger ever continued to live to its 500th birthday, its tail would turn white. Consequentially, white tigers would only appear to emperors who ruled virtuously. They were the symbol of a peaceful period of power. Although white tigers are revered creatures in Chinese lore, they now face a tipping point in their existence. The white tigers are highly endangered. Hence, many wildlife advocates are trying to save the world's last remaining tigers.

NURSERY CRIMES

17 November to 3 December 2018

An original play filled with mystery, adventure and nursery rhyme twists!

Only at The Star Theatre!

Synopsis

Poppy Piper is bored. It's raining outside and she's played with her toys a million times. After she made a wish that she was 'anywhere but here', Poppy uncovers a magical doorway into the rabbit's hole – an amazing world filled with Nursey Rhyme characters. As Old King Sole's newly appointed chief detective, Poppy must solve the puzzle of why this strange world is so topsy turvy, and naughty crimes have sprung up everywhere. Jack and June have lost their memories and Humpty Bumpy has been pushed from the wall. Little Bo Beep's sheep have been kidnapped!

As Poppy gathers clues along the way, she meets new friends and solves puzzles. Will Poppy find the culprit in time? Join Poppy as she goes on a journey of mystery and friendship through a wonderful world of colour and imagination!

The Main Cast

Thomas Jenkins has been performing since he was six, and has never looked back. He studied Theatre at the Texas Drama College and graduated in 2005. He has starred in many plays including 'Superheroes', 'Where did the Rabbit Go?' and 'Lucifer'.

Joan Robertson, a lover of the arts and theatre since she was twelve, developed her passion for acting when she completed a module in Theatre Studies at Columbia Public High School. Some of her performances include 'The Witches' and 'Bald Eagle'.

Raeanne Kennedy is one of the youngest performers in this play. A child of only six years of age, Raeanne's love for acting started when she was three. Her debut performance was a minor role in 'Little Friends'. Some of her performances include 'Black Pony' and 'Supergirl'.

The Star Theatre

Built in 1988, the Star Theatre was first established as a home for the performing arts only after the closure of the Drama Centre in 1991. It started operations in 1992. The Star Theatre is fitted with high-end audio, video and production lighting systems for an exceptional audio-visual experience. It heightens the enjoyment of a wide range of amplified music and speech events.

ABOUT THE DRAMA BOX

The Drama Box was established in 1996 by performing artistes who had the same dream – that children deserved the same quality of theatre as adults. Their aim was to excite and interest children from ages 3 to 12 with theatre that is written, designed and performed specifically for them by professional adult actors.

The Drama Box's vision is for drama to have the power to engage and transform. Hence, being one of Singapore's first children's theatre, it now not only creates plays in both English and Mandarin, but musicals for children as well.

For each question from 21 to 28, shade your answer (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet. (8 marks)

A 'blood moon' captivated stargazers all over Singapore early on Saturday, 28 July. It was covered in shadow for the longest lunar eclipse _____ the 21st century. Although the total eclipse lasted one hour, 42 minutes and 57 seconds, a partial eclipse that came before and after that saw the moon spending _____ total of nearly four hours in the Earth's umbral shadow.

The eclipse also coincided _____ Mars' closest approach in 15 years. Astronomy enthusiasts gathered _____ Marina South Pier and other locations across Singapore to witness the amazing sight. Others viewed the display _____ wherever they could.

A total lunar eclipse happens _____ Earth takes position in a straight line between the moon and sun, blotting _____ the direct sunlight that normally makes our satellite glow whitish-yellow. The moon travels to a similar position _____ month, but it could either pass above _____ below the Earth's shadow - so most months we have a full moon without an eclipse. When the Earth, the moon and the sun are perfectly lined up, however, the Earth's atmosphere refracts or bends red light onto the moon, usually giving _____ a rosy blush. Unfortunately for those who missed Saturday's eclipse, the next lunar eclipse of such a length will only happen in 2123.

In June and July 2018, a widely publicised cave rescue successfully extracted members of a junior male football team trapped in Tham Luang Nang Non cave in the Thai province of Chiang Rai. Twelve members of the team, aged eleven _____ seventeen, entered the cave on 23 June after football practice, together _____ their 25-year-old assistant coach. Shortly afterwards, heavy rains partially flooded the cave, trapping the group inside.

Efforts to locate the team _____ hampered by rising water levels and _____ currents, and no contact was made for more _____ a week. The rescue effort expanded _____ a massive operation and attracted the attention of the public from all over the world. _____ 2 July, British divers John Volanthen and Richard Stanton _____ the team alive on an elevated rock about 4 kilometres from the cave mouth. Rescue organisers discussed various _____ of extracting the group, including whether to _____ them basic diving skills to enable their early rescue. Waiting until a new entrance was found, or for the floodwaters to _____ at the end of the monsoon season months later were among the organisers' options. After days of pumping water from the cave system, the rescue teams worked quickly to get everyone out before the next monsoon rain, _____ was predicted to start around 11 July. Between 8 _____ 10 July, all of the boys and their coach were rescued from the cave by _____ international team. The rescue team, _____ of over a hundred divers and rescue workers, did not stop working until all lives were saved.

- 66 Ravi wore a pair of dirty shoes to the party. His brother also wore a pair of dirty shoes to the party.

Neither _____ nor _____.

- 67 The children did not want to be late for the examination in the morning. They slept early last night.

_____ so as _____.

- 68 "The boys went for the movie yesterday," Julie told her mother.

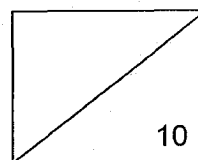

Julie told _____.

- 69 The movie had started. There was a blackout.

Hardly _____.

- 70 Mrs Lee was scolding the students for drawing on their tables.

The students _____.

My earliest memories involve sitting with Father in his study every night when he came home from the office. I would watch him put his personal items away: his watch, wallet, comb and car keys. These would always occupy the same spot on the table every time.

Father's comb was jade green. Every night, he would hand me the comb and say, "Be a good girl and help Father clean it, okay?" 5

I was more than happy to do it. At age five, this mundane task brought me such joy. I would excitedly turn the tap on, then brush the comb with a used toothbrush as hard as I could. Satisfied, I would proudly return the comb to Father. He would smile at me, and place the comb on top of his wallet. 10

About two years later, Father left his sales job and started his own business. I started school. Father's business was not doing so well, and our stable life started getting shaky. He did not come home as much as he used to. When he did, it was always late and I would already be in bed. Why did he not listen to Mother's advice and just stick to his old job? I eventually stopped waiting for him to come home. 15

Today, I am no longer a child. I have graduated from college and got a job. Father's business has also started to get back on track. Things are better now. Yet the awkwardness between Father and me has persisted for a while.

Last week, Father came home early one evening. I helped him carry his bags into his study. When I turned to leave, he said, "Hey, would you like to help me clean my comb?" I looked at him a while, then took the comb and headed to the sink. 20

It was a new comb. This one was brown. I had not noticed that he had changed it. I punched a few drops of soap from the dispenser onto an old toothbrush, and I brushed the comb.

It hit me then: why, as a child, helping Father clean his comb was such a joy. That routine signified family bonding time. It meant that Father was home early to spend the evening with Mother and me. I had never seen it in that way before. 25

I passed the clean comb back to Father. He looked at it and smiled. However, this time, I noticed Father had aged. He had wrinkles next to his mouth when he smiled, yet it was still as heartwarming as before. It was a smile of a father who had worked hard to give his family a good life. 30
